"If I Could Have One More Chance at Him!" Says He-But Nebody's Afraid of Him-He Holds a Reception in Court, but Does Not Shake Hands With the Magistrate.

John L. Sullivan, who once was champion pugiliat of the world, was arrested yesterday by an ordinary policeman who wasn't even in rm and was haled before Magistrate Deuel in the Jefferson Market court to answer to a charge of assault made against him by George H. Snyder, a bartender. Not only that but he was locked up in default of $500 bail. When applying for the warrant Snyder explained that he was in charge of the bar of the saloon at 1177 Broadway. Sullivan was the nominal manager of the place, the real object of his salary being to secure the use of his name But for the last two weeks the ex-champion had insisted on taking his managership seriously, although hardly in a condition to manage anything-even himself. After a reign c terror that threatened to drive every employee out of the place, the owner of the saloon sent word to Sullivan to keep away entirely, and Snyder was ordered not to serve liquor to him under any circumstances. The crisis came, Snyder said, when John L. appeared in the saloon last Tuesday evening and yelled for whiskey. Snyder refused to serve him, and Sullivan, with some of his oldtime agility, jumped over the bar and began to administer unscientific but telling blows on Snyder's face. Snyder broke a bottle over the pugilist's head and then friends took Sulli-

Magistrate Deuel granted the warrant, which was handed over to Policeman Herrlich for service. Half a dozen other policemen at service. Half a dozen other policemen at least were anxious to undertake the job.

"John I., is all right," they said, "he wouldn't hit a policeman. You can handle him as easy as a lamb if you do it right."

The brief time that elapsed before Herrlich returned with his prisoner seemed to bear the statement out. An impromptu reception followed in one of the side rooms of the court, Every man in the place shook the heavy fist of the ex-champion and few left him without an expression of regret.

"A big, good-hearted chump, that's what he is," said a cop with six service stripes. "I dollars along the sace data and dollars along the sace data and them. There never was anything mean about John L."

Sullivan himself, moved, red-eyed and heavy footed, in the midst of all the adulation, looking only for a sight of his antagonist.

"If I could only have one more chance at de mug of the bloke!" was his one wish. Sergeant Foody and his men deemed it best to keep their prisoner in practical concealment till the last possible moment for arraignment. But even then it was with far from steady steps that John L. made his appearance in the court. With some difficulty he was persuaded not to walk up on the bridge and offer to snake hands with the Magistrate, but he obeyed the policemen in spite of all his loud-voiced pretests that he wouldn't. Lawyer Mark Alter, who appeared for him obtained an adjournment of his case till 10 o'clock this morning, bail being fixed at $500. Snyder's lawyer objected at once on the ground that Sullivan had threatened to take Snyder's life if he could only get out. When nothing else helped, the lawyer wanted to enter a second complaint.

"I shall entertain no new complaint until a beautiful and the shade and along "the Magistrate".

only get out. When nothing else helped, the lawyer wanted to enter a second complaint.

"I shall entertain no new complaint until this one has been acted upon," the Magistrate declared emphatically. "I do not think that any man of the prisoner's character will think of going around to make more trouble while a charge is pending aganst him in court. The bail will stand as fixed and I shall admit the prisoner to bail if I find his condition warrants it and a responsible bondsman is offered."

No bondsman was present, however, nor did the counsel show any inclination to procure one. So Sullivan was led to the court prison and turned over to Turnkey McDermitt. Be went without show of resistance, but vowing vengeance against the unfortunate Snyder. Late last night he had not been bailed out.

PRICE, M'CORMICK & CO.'S LOANS. They Had a Great Lot of Philadelphia Com pany Stock Pledged.

In the collateral Price, McCormick & Co had up for loans were 32,876 shares of the Philadelphia Company, 12,400 shares American Steel and Wire, common; 11.437 shares Ameri ean Tobacco, common; 10.310 shares Southern Pacific; 7,400 shares Kansas City, Pittsburg and Gulf, common, 7,220 shares Union Pacific, preferred: 6,600 shares United States Leather, common; 4,350 shares Atchison, preferred; 2,100 shares Republic Iron and Steel, common, and 2,000 shares Brooklyn Rapid Transit. The firm endeavored to promote the Philadelphia Company here. The Philadelphia Company is a combination of the gas, electric light and traction companies of Pittsburg and Allegheny City. It has a capital stock of $3,998,-350 common, and $14,593,847 5 per cent. noncumulative preferred shares, a total of $18,592,197. There is also a funded debt of $14,550,500. The stock is dealt in on the Pittsburg Stock Exchange. According to Wall Street reports yesterday there has been no liquidation yet of the Price. McCormick & Co. holdings of the stock; but at the office of Sullivan & Cromwell, attorneys for the assignee, it was stated that a considerable amount of the stock had been taken up by customers who owned it. The representative of the assignee said:

There is no stock of any kind that is now in jeopardy of being pushed for sale.

Wall Street believes that the liquidation and sale of the collateral in many of the Price, McCormick & Co. loans was an important element in causing recent weakness in the stock market. This selling, however, has ceased. cumulative preferred shares, a total of

TIN PLATE WAGES CONFERENCE. Upon Its Outcome Depends the Continuance of Work at the Mills.

Several of the district superintendents of the American Tin Plate Company who are in charge of Western mills were in this city yesterday conferring with Warner Arms, Vice-President of the company, who is conducting the negotiations with the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers regarding wages. The superintendents were summoned here to provide data regarding the demands of the men. They are in close touch with the workers, and it was thought best to have them here during the conference which will be held to-day between representatives of the company and of the Amalgamated Association. The wages schedule that the Amalgamated Association has presented asks for an average increase of 6 per cent. for the different classes of workers. The finishers, or tin house men, who are not controlled by the Amalgamated Association, controlled by the Amargamated Association, have also presented demands considerably larger than those of the association. Should no agreement between the company and the Amalgamated Association be reached by July 1 the mills of the company will close until an agreement is reached. F. H. Wheeler, Treasurer of the company, said yesterday that the company anticipated great prosperity in the next twelve months. While prices had dropped somewhat, the indications are that they will remain fairly steady at the present basis for some time to come. some time to come.
Conferences are now being held in Detroit

WHEAT UP A LITTLE. The West Still Has the Bull Fever-9,255,000

Bushels Dealt in Here. Wheat declined one cent early vesterday owing to rains at the Northwest and liquidation, but the loss was recovered later on and a net advance was established for the day of two cents owing to further reports of damage to the Northwest, stronger cables and predictions lof fairweather at the Northwest for the next thirtysix hours. Snow's estimate of the total crop of winter and spring wheat of 460,000 bushels and a revival of buying for a rise here and all over the West where the bull fever is still on, encouraged in some degree, it is understood, by the success Chicago operators have had of late on the long side of cotton. There was increased buying of September. At the close July was 39%, August, 90. September, 89%, and December, 90. Total transactions, 9,255,000 bushels.

B. R. T." Telegrams. Twenty-one witnesses testifled before Justice Fursman in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court yesterday against four of the alleged Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company raiders on trial for conspiracy. The twentyfirst witness was Henry J. Alexander, who was indicted jointly with the four defendants,

The prosecution bases its case on certain advertisements headed "Beware of Flower Trusts" and signed "Truthseeker" and "Pathfinder," which were published in the fall and winter of last year. Alexander testified that, acting for Goslin, Packer and Bogert, he inserted the advertisements in the papers. He said that they were written by Alfred R. Goslin Exchange, testified that B. R. T. stock was dealt in considerably on the Consolidated and several hours were taken up in examining employees of New York newspapers and having them identify the advertisements signed "Truthseeker" and "Pathinder." Eugene C. Mouburn, an employee of the New York "imes, testified that they were handed in by Irving Rosenbaum and Heary J. Alexander, advertising agents.

George J. Usher, superintendent of the Postal Telegraph Cable Company, testified that on Dec. 20, 1899, the company had sent out 400 telegrams signed "Truthseeker," advising the recipients to sell B. R. T. stock. Two of the company's messenger boys testified that they had received the original despatch and a list of 400 persons to whom it was to be sent from Eugene L. Packer in an office on the sixth floor of 29 Broadway. Goslin was in the office at the time. The despatch read:
"Sell Brooklyn Rapid Transit at opening to-mor-"Sell Brooklyn Rapid Transit at opening to-mor w morning for 30 points profit. Advise. "TRUTHSEEKER, P. O. Box 1,488."

"TRUTHSEERER, P. O. BOX 1,400.

Edgar William Lundy testified that he had written to "Truthseeker" concerning the advertisement headed "Beware of Flower Trusts" and had received a telegram advising him to sell B. R. T. John A. Joseph gave similar testimony. After a dozen other such witnesses had testified Alexander was called. He said that he was an advertising agent and that he that he was an advertising agent and that he had made the acquaintance of Goslin, Packer had made the acquaintance of Goslin, Packer and Bogart about a year ago when they were running the "Security Investment Company" at 29 Broadway. They employed him as their general advertising man at $20 a week and he transferred his bank account from the Produce Exchange Bank to the Security Investment Company. All the "Truthseeker" and "Pathinder" advertisements were sent to the newspapers by him and paid for out of the account in the Security Investment Company. He identified the original copy from which the "Truthseeker" advertisement was printed as the handwriting of Alfred R. Goslin. It was written on Security Investment Company letterheads. The trial will go on to-day.

Recent fluctuations and weakness in Baltimore and Ohio stocks in Wall street have been attributed to a tacit understanding reached by the directors to take no action on common stock dividends this summer. This view of the strugdividends this summer. This view of the situa-tion is encouraged by persons very close to the controlling powers in Baltimore and Ohio. Chairman Saiomon and President E. R. Bacon of the B. & O. Southwestern are still in Europe and an official statement was made vesterday that there would not be a meeting of the Balti-more and Ohio directors until the first Thurs-day in August.

WEDNESDAY, June 27. Trading on the Stock Exchange to-day was onsiderably reduced in volume and stocks noved in a rather listless fashion. Final prices showed moderate gains for a majority of stocks as compared with the concluding figures yesterday. The relapse of the stock market into practically a waiting attitude was due to the desire of speculators for more definite news of the situation in China and to further desire on their part to ascertain the utcome of the Democratic National Convention. The contingent in Wall Street which recently has been operating for a decline apparently did not consider the general pros pect favorable for the prosecution of their efforts, for they made no concerted or determined attacks on stocks. The element that looks for an appreciation in values likewise was not aggressive in its operations. It seemed to consider that the market was in a position where it could be depended on to take care of itself until the time arrived for vigorous ection in prosecuting an advance in prices and in enforcing the covering of the large short interest that is known to exist in various leading issues.

The reports of railroad earnings that were received without exception showed substantial increases over the heavy returns for the corresponding period of last year. The fear that the business of the railroads might later fall off has vanished. It is believed that an indefinite period of undiminished prosperity is before the roads and as the threatened demoralization in rates has been averted, there will be no sacrifice of revenues on this account The late news as to spring wheat is not satisfactory, but it does not confirm the wild stories of damage that recently were spread broadcast. The spring wheat yield, it is admitted, will be short, but it is reasonably certain that the winter wheat crop, which now is safe, will supply the deficiency. Intelligence as to corn is favorable; a large crop is considered to be assured. Reliable advices as to cotton are that there probably will be a full crop of this important staple. The demand for wheat, corn and cotton promises to be large and accordingly the producers will receive good prices for their crops. In the steel trade the tendency is toward a restoration of prices, and the prices of coal, too, are moving upward. The general outlook in industrial lines is as acceptable as ever. Brooklyn Rapid Transit again led in the dealings, but the fluctuations in the stock were not wide. A moderate amount of liquidation caused a fractional net loss in the price. The bears, having had some rough treatment in this stock yesterday, did not attempt to effect a break in it. Sugar Refining was in fair request and gained in price. American Tobacco noved up on the announcement that the regular dividend would be paid. The steel stocks were strong. Unimportant declines were recorded for the so-called Granger shares and for Atchison preferred and Northern Pacific common, which were sold to some extent. The reaction in Baltimore and Ohio was checked. Missouri Pacific and Louisville and Nashville displayed strength. The closing of the market was quiet and steady.
